Install Bishop Donegan Diocesan At the Cathedral November 18th

The installation of Bishop Donegan as Bishop of New York will be held in the Cathedral, Saturday, November 18, at 3 p.m., with the Presiding Bishop and the Bishop Officiating.

The new Bishop will be the twelfth Bishop of New York since the Diocese was organized in 1785.

Bishop Donegan was consecrated Suffragan Bishop of New York, Oct. 28, 1947. He was elected Bishop Coadjutor Oct. 25, 1949 by unanimous acclaim, the first time in the history of the Diocese.

New Gallaudet Home Opened September 6

The Gallaudet Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf moved its twenty-three residents to its new quarters on Bancroft Road in Poughkeepsie, on Sept. 6. Purchased from St. Andrew's Convalescent Hospital, the new building and grounds are expected to furnish a more economical and accessible place of residence for these aged deaf men and women. The home had been located in Wappingers Falls for nearly 40 years.

The Gallaudet Home is the only institution of its kind in this part of the country. It was founded in 1885 by the late Rev. Thomas Gallaudet, D.D. who had founded the Church Mission of Deaf Mutes 13 years previously. The latter corporation is owner of the home and responsible for its maintenance. The present members of the Board of Trustees are:

The Bishop, ex officio, president; The Rev. Richard L. Harbour, vice pres.; Theodor Oxholm, Treasurer; Charles A. Bradford, secretary; Rufus T. Bush; Marsden B. Candler; Frederic D. H. Gilbert; The Rev. Leland B. Henry; The Rev. Dr. Edwin W. Nies; Frank S. Roberts, Jr.; Miss Helen Troy.

The operation of the home is undertaken by a Lady Board of Managers all living in the vicinity. Mrs. Edgar B. Taylor of Poughkeepsie is president.

The Bishop's Message

Dear Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:

We stand at the beginning of a new season's activities. We may hope that the summer surcease has given our clergy and people new zeal and determination for the work of the year now before us. There are anxious and critical days ahead, and the hearts of men are filled with fear. What can the Church do — what can the members of the Church do — to bring the will and purpose of God to bear upon the solution of the problems which now threaten another world war?

The present world situation confronts the Church with the most urgent and compelling challenge it has ever been called to face. That must be clear to us all when we consider what an atomic war could mean not only to God's children everywhere but what it would do to our own dear ones, to our American way of life, to the institutions we cherish.

What can the Church do? What will be the response of its people to the call God now makes upon them?

Obviously, our first concern should be with the deepening of our personal faith — to make God real in our own lives and seek that conscious fellowship with Him which we find in diligent use of the Sacraments and worship of the Church.

But we may not stop there. If our lives are to speak for Him we must find our rightful place and share not only in the life and work of our own parishes but in the Church's world program. If only we could honestly persuade ourselves that God has the answer to our world's problems — if only those who call themselves followers of Christ and members of His Church would give Him a chance to show what He could make their lives do for Him — there would be nothing to fear.

This, my last "MESSAGE" for the Bulletin, is written in the prayerful confidence that our Diocese will bravely accept the anxious challenge now before it. Under the leadership and vision of Bishop Donegan and with the loyal support that will be given him I am sure our parishes and missions will go forward to that more effective service that God is now demanding. We already have evidence of that in the response our laymen are making to the efforts of Mr. Ted Gannaway, now the full-time secretary of the Program of the Church, to organize our forces for more effective service.

But there is a hard task ahead. May God give to the Bishops, clergy and people of our Diocese faith, strength, and courage for the service that is needed.

Work on Bishop Gilbert Field House Is Reported Under Way

Work on the Bishop Gilbert Field House began at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, early in July.

The new building is an annex to St. Peter's gymnasium and provides locker rooms and showers.

The Rev. Frank Leeming, headmaster of the school, has promised that, when completed, the Field House will accommodate an additional fifty boys and girls at the Diocesan Summer Conferences, heretofore held at St. Peter's.

However, at the present time, the builders have had to stop work because of lack of funds.

Mr. Robert Lee, who is heading the drive, said that this was to be expected during the summer vacation, but that it is hoped that construction can be resumed very soon. The building is scheduled for dedication, All Saints' Day, Nov. 1.

Additional promotional material is available from Mr. Lee, Suite 1303, 347 Madison Ave., N. Y. C., LExington 2-5147.

Train 30 New Laymen as Associate Field Officers for Fall Canvass

Eighty-Six Now Equipped to Tell of Church's Mission

Thirty carefully selected laymen were added to the roster of the fifty-six Associate Field Officers for the Diocese at a special training conference on the Program of the Church conducted at St. Peter's School, Peekskill, September 16 and 17.

Representing parishes from every part of the Diocese these men, together with those who served in a similar capacity last year, will be available to make effective presentations of the entire program of the Church to parish meetings and special parish groups in support of the Every Member Canvass this fall.

These eighty-five laymen, giving freely of their time and ability, are a part of more than 2300 specially trained laymen who are leading the Episcopal educational campaign that is now going on throughout the Church. This plan, originated last year, has proven so successful that it is the purpose of the program to inform every Episcopal churchmember of the plans, the needs and the opportunities which face the Church today both at home and overseas.

The parish, the diocese and the national mission work of the Church are included in the presentations.

The latest techniques of visual presentation gave the old and new Field Officers who attended the Peekskill conference a comprehensive view of every aspect of the Church's program. Also they were trained in the techniques of presenting it effectively to parish groups.

The training conference was under the sponsorship of the Committee on the Program of the Church led by the secretary, W. Ted Gannaway, and assisted by the seven convocation chairmen who are members of the Committee. These men are:

Ernest P. Meyer	Dutchess
Louis F. Stauss	Bronx
Clinton G. Harris	Hudson
Eliot L. Ward	Manhattan
Frank W. Conkling	Ramapo
Van Lear Woodward	Richmond
George W. Burpee	Westchester

At this time a special instructor, Mr. William T. Kirk, trained for this purpose by the National Church will be in charge.

Rev. Bryan Green to Preach at St. Bartholomew's, October 24

The Rev. Bryan Green, who conducted the Diocesan Youth Mission last year and the Mission at the Cathedral the preceding year, will preach at a special service in St. Bartholomew's, Man., Tuesday, Oct. 24 at 8 p.m.

This service is open to all and it is thought that this will probably be the only opportunity to hear him in New York this fall.

National Church

Parish

Your parish budget has been prepared and made known to you. It includes salaries, repairs, insurance, indebtedness, and other essentials.

Among those essentials is your parish missionary quota.

For every $2 you spend for yourself, on certain items, you are asked to spend $1 for the support of the Church's work in the Diocese and in the world. The expenditures on which the quota is based are:

- Salaries of lay workers (except Church School Teachers)*
- Organist, music and choir*
- Heat and light in parish buildings*
- Other miscellaneous operating expenses.*

Clergy salaries, pension or insurance premiums, taxes, interest, repairs, or special parochial expenses are not included in the expenditures upon which the quota is computed.

In other words, the smaller church whose primary expense is the clergyman's salary has a much smaller quota proportionately than the large institutional church with an elaborate music program, several lay workers on staff and a tremendous plant.

On this basis, for every $65 you spend for yourself on quota items, you are asked to spend $35 for the work of the Church in the Diocese and in the world.

Reproduced to the right is a breakdown of how your expenditures for parochial expenses compare with what you are asked to give for the total work of the church.

The parish budget is drawn up to represent a typical church, as near as such can be conceived in a Diocese as diverse as New York.

Report U. T. O. Shows A Steady Increase

The UNITED THANK OFFERING of the women of the Diocese is showing a steady increase according to the last report released by Mrs. Carolyn Whiteley, diocesan treasurer. The total spring offering was $20,804.92—an increase of $5,627.15 over the corresponding offering of the last triennium. This offering was made by approximately 6,000 women.

The total offering for the triennium to date is $39,490.31—which also is an increase of $9,814.20 over the same period of the previous triennium.

Mrs. Whiteley said, "With the increasing anti-Christian influences throughout the world, it is imperative that the work of our Church be maintained and strengthened. This can be done by sending more missionaries into the areas where their particular services are most needed. And, this can be accomplished to a large extent through the United Thank Offering of the women of our Church. Rectors are urged to encourage all the women of their parishes to assist in this missionary work of the Church."

The Advent Offering will be presented at a Service of Holy Communion at the Cathedral on Tuesday, December 5th at 10:30 o'clock, to which every woman in the Diocese is invited.
